

2021 Rib-Tickling Limericks Contest Entries

Faith S., 14, Arizona

There was an exquisite young girl
Who would sing as she would stand and twirl
She would dance a jig as she would clean
She sparkled and shined and made everything gleam
She made everything shiny as pearl

Jonathan L., 11, Tennessee

There was a boy named Ron
And if there was a spider, he was gone
They scared him to death
So then, he left
He needs to work on his brawn

O there once was a boy in a park
He looked up and saw a little lark
The lark flew at Joe
And he turned to go,
He was slow, and the bird left a mark

Felix J., 11, North Dakota

A MAN NAMED BOB

There once was a man named Bob,
Who decided he needed a job.
But he was rude,
That was his mood.
So his job was to pick corn on the cob.

THE BOY AND THE LION

There once was a boy named Brian,
Who played with a lion called Ryan.
Then one day,
When he started to play,
There at once was only the lion.

Zachary J., 13, North Dakota – 3rd Place

THE MAN WHO I KNEW

There once was a man who I knew
Who had blown up poor Nessy to goo
He was in quite a plight
But he fixed her all right
It's amazing, the uses of glue!

Brianna S., 12, Colorado – Featured

If you find a Magic Fish
You'll undoubtedly make a wish
Be sure to make them wise
And never ask for extra eyes
Or you'll never get a girl to kiss.

There once was a rabbit named Bill
Who lived in an old run down mill
One day he went in
And the whole roof fell in
And on that hill still lies poor old Bill.

Mikayla S., 15, Colorado – Finalist

A LEMUR-ICK

There once was a lemur named Mick
Who was almost constantly sick
He sat up in bed
With a poem in head
It came out as a Lemur-ick.

There once was an ant named Mim
Who brought a pet home on a whim
It tried to eat her
For it was an anteater
She almost escaped from him.

Samuel U., 14, in Oregon

There once was an old man from Turkey.
Rumor had it he was odd and quirky.
He wore shoes on his head,
And slept under his bed,
So the old man got kicked out of Turkey.

Fainen K., 12, Ontario, Canada

There once was an author named Dickens,
Who liked to anthropomorphize clay chickens.
Then one day,
He sat on the bay,
And got pecked by an angry chicken.

Sakeena M., 12, Ontario, Canada

There once was a man named Ned.
Who sat beneath his bed.
And with a swish,
Came a ten eyed fish,
Who whacked him in the head.

There was once a girl named hook.
Who fed her snail a book.
But wait-oh my!
Your shoe is untied!
Ha! I made you look.

Grant K., 11, Tennessee

There was quite a small boy named Lapaz,
He stole some nice crystals of Topaz.
A monster went inside,
Then the little boy cried,
The monster said, "Got any Topaz?"

Ryan C., 12, Ohio – Finalist

There once was a big chunky dude
He loved to walk around nude
And with his wife
There was plenty of strife
It ended one day when she sued

The children all lived in a castle
And their school was too big a hassle
They all got so dumb
That their skulls went numb
We call it the stupids' castle

Phoenix M., 13, Auckland, New Zealand – 1st Place

There once was a small boy called Jack
Who went snooping around in a shack
He left with no trace
A smile on his face
And a tray full of pies in his sack

Aletheia B., 13, New Mexico

There once was a girl from the run
Who tripped when she heard the gun.
She fell on her face
Much to her disgrace.
Oh, that poor, poor girl from the run.

Megan M., 11, Indiana

There once was a bearded man named Mark
Who decided to go for a lark
He rented a small boat
Which didn't even float
Now he's swimming with a great white shark.

Along skipped a lady named Katie
Who discovered a problem weighty
About her true love Mark
Being chased by a shark
Who then would become her first matey?

Astrid D., 13, Ontario, Canada

WHEN FRODO GETS HURT

Frodo was stabbed and the Ringwraiths leered,
In misery the Dwarves tore their beards.
The distressed elves cried,
For Frodo might die,
Poor Sam burst into big, ugly tears.

THE GIRL FROM SARNIA

There once was a girl from Sarnia,
Who decided to live in Narnia.
She looked for a ring,
But found golden bling,
She never ended up in Narnia.

Mitchell M., 12, North Carolina

There once was a man named Steve
Who was trapped in Minecraft, but wanted to leave.
So he found a gold bar
That he traded for a car.
Now he's in Florida I believe.

Oden E., 11, Idaho

There once was a young man named Bill,
Who said, "one day, I'll hike up that hill."
When he did, what surprise!
A bear snapped his behind,
And he never hiked back up that hill.

Chelsea F., 12, Utah

Once my teacher wanted me to write a Limerick,
But I said, "No, it would make me sick."
But when I got extremely bored,
Enough that a sick feeling would be ignored,
I wrote a poem about a squirrel named Rick.

But once my poem was done,
I went outside to get some sun.
Soon a yellow car zipped by,
Causing my poem to get blown to the sky,
So I walked inside to start another one.

Brock S., 11, Alaska – 2nd Place

THE ABSENT MINDED HORSE

There once was a famous old race horse,
Who confused, wandered off of the course.
Amidst the applause,
Clover in her jaws,
She walked back with no signs of remorse.

SCARY HARRY

There once was a young man named Harry,
Who was large, grotesque and quite scary.
He was covered in hair
And he looked like a bear,
But he shaved and became "Clean Gary."

Emma B., 14, Maryland

There was an old lady named Sue.
Who found herself trapped in a shoe.
She waited all day,
But nobody came.
So she raised all her kids in that shoe.

Once, Kevin the Squirrel had a snail.
The snail liked to ride on his tail.
They played every day
Down by the blue bay,
Until a dog ate the poor snail.

Faith S., 14, Maryland – Featured

There once was a guy named Fred,
He cried cuz' his dear dog was dead,
So he went to a zoo,
And found a kangaroo,
Then smiled and patted its head.

There once was a coach standing poolside,
He laughed as he watched the kids swim fly,
He was evil and mean,
So they thought up a scheme,
Pushed him into the pool and said "bye-bye!"

Joshua H., 15, Auckland, New Zealand

There once was a man from Japan,
Who liked to cook with a pan.
So he found a duck,
Who'd run out of luck,
And cooked him with eggs and ham.

There once was a man on a beach
Oh how he wanted a peach.
But wherever he hiked,
The one he liked,
Was just too hard to reach.

Isabelle L., 12, Iowa

JENNY AND THE PENNY

Once there was a girl named Jenny.
Upon the highway she found a penny.
It was Alice Algo's money,
Sitting in water and honey!
She ran to Alice and handed her the penny.

BRAVE DANIEL

Brave Daniel trotted to his dwelling.
Inside was a tiger named Gelling.
Daniel grabbed a brass pan,
With which he did can,
The bad tiger in his dwelling.

AuLaura W., 12, Saskatchewan, Canada

DRU

There once was a giant named Dru.
Who got his head stuck in a shoe.
His odds were slim,
Until his godmother found him.
But his head was forever turned blue.

Sarah S., 12, Alberta, Canada

Sophia was wearing lace,
But still she wanted to race,
She passed the line,
With lots of time,
And a smile on her pretty face.

My sister has really big feet,
With them she decided to eat,
She filled her fork,
With lots of pork,
Then remembered she doesn't like meat.

Caleb H., 11, Illinois

There was a freckled pig named Ross,
Who made a big car for his boss.
On the way from the town,
the car did just break down,
grumbled Ross to his Boss, "Your loss."

Victoria S., 12, South Dakota – Featured

There once was a girl named Claire
She stayed in a haunted Lair
Then came a ghost
With a big post
Soon she had blood in her hair

Josie W., 11, Tennessee

There once was a beautiful elf
Who lived in a country called Belf
She had blue, periwinkle eyes
Which attracted many guys
But that elf refused them all and lived peacefully in Belf

There once was a lad from New Guinea
Who had a girlfriend called Jenny
But Jenny was mean to the lad
And it made him mad
Then Jenny left, leaving that poor lad nothing but a penny

Evie A., 14, Ohio

I entered a limerick contest
I thought that mine would surely be best
What should I write about?
Limericks, no doubt!
All my skills they were put to the test

I waited on the stage for applause
My name from the envelope they'd draw
I poured my heart out
Thought I'd win without doubt
But they picked out every single flaw

Madelyn P., 12, Virginia – Featured

There once was a coder named Jayden
Who coded to get all their pay in
It was all going fine
'Til they got sucked inside
And now there's a code that's called Jayden.

Evie F., 12, Maryland

"GLOVE AT FIRST SIGHT"
There once was a lad named Ming,
and Disney-bounding was his thing.
In his Mickey attire,
his single desire
was to make his sweet Minnie sing.

Avery G., 13, Texas – Featured

LU'S FLU
There once was a child named Lu.
She felt like she had caught the flu.
A doctor named Haux,
Said she had the chickenpox!
“And now, she said, “so do you.”

LITTLE MISS SWAY
There once was a lady from Norway
Her name was Little Miss Sway.
But her hips were quite big,
So, her name didn't fit
'cause she's still stuck in our doorway.